

MARTIN SCORSESE &
HARVEY WEINSTEIN:
Toe-to-Toe in
Our Exclusive Interview

Esquire

Man at His Best

JULY 2002

Bridget Moynahan: A Woman We Love

Pacino The Legend Speaks

PLUS

Gene
Simmons
(of Kiss)

Emmanuelle
Beart
(of France)

and One
Dead Dog
(of Course)

The Great American Road Trip: 24 Pages of the Best Stuff in the U.S. of A.

INCLUDING:

- » 8 Great Drives
- » Ultimate Car Tunes
- » 67 Roadside Wonders
- » The Best Meals Along the Way

$3.00
esquire.com

THE $200 HAMMER

According to Esquire's Rule No. 156, there is no gadget that cannot be made cooler by adding titanium. Well, some goes for tools—namely, this titanium hammer, the Siletto Tools Tiflone. What do you get for your $194.95? These things don't rust, they've got built-in grooves for holding nails, and they've got titanium's natural shock absorption, meaning no matter how many gazebos you build, your elbow will still love you. We tested the Tiflone out recently on a bunch of 16-penny nails and a two-by-four, and we have to say—it's the hammer of the gods. Visit siletto-tools.com.

—JOHN QUINN